Laundry Vocabulary

How does it feel when you wrap yourself in a cozy and clean blanket fresh out of the wash? Not everyone likes to do laundry, but it's hard to say "no" to a basket full of clean clothes!

What other words can we learn when we're doing laundry? Let's practice our laundry vocabulary with these language activities.

Activity #1: Fashion Designer

Each of these nuučaańuł words names a piece of clothing or textile that needs cleaning.

Below each word, draw the item it describes. Use art supplies to add any colours, designs or patterns that you want to include. You can also add any stains or messes that need to be cleaned when they go through the laundry!

šiqwín	ćachaq	łihćaqłyak
ćaaćak ^w animsac	łišłiqyak	ćuupakuut

Activity #2: Mixed-Up Instructions

My laundry instructions were in my pocket when my pants went through the wash. Now they're all mixed up! Can you help me put them back into the right order?

Write the correct number next to each step that I should follow when doing laundry. Put #1 next to the step that should come first. Put #2 next to the step that should come second, and so on!

What order do you follow when you do laundry?

Activity #3: How Do You Dry?

How do you dry your clothes after you finish washing them? Some people like to hang their laundry on a line, and other people like to use a dryer if they have access to one. There are advantages and disadvantages for both ways!

In the chart below, use point form to write at least two advantages and two disadvantages that you can think of for each method of drying clothes. Use as many nuučaañuł words or phrases as you can!

ʔuupapitapḥakʔaala múčičtup ʔušaaʔap. Do you hang your laundry to dry?		ʔuuḥwáḥakʔaala ʔušýakʔi. Do you use a dryer?
