Vocabulary "On a Walk"

What a beautiful day to go for a walk! How should we get ready for our walk? What nuučaañuł vocabulary can we use to describe our time outside? Let's practice our walking vocabulary with these language activities.

Activity #1: Getting Ready to Walk

qiiḱ^waał^wiḱasin yaacpanač (we are going to take a long walk), but I need help getting ready!

What gear should I take with me? What should I wear? What else should I do before I leave?

Help me finish my to-do list below. In nuučaañuł, add 4 more steps I should follow to prepare for a nice long walk. Use Ucluelet dialect domain sets (<https://bit.ly/3qhKrFK>) to help you.

ʔinxaa (getting ready), yayacataḱ (about to walk)

- ʔuḱ^wičuʔi ʔuupakuut. (Put your jacket on.)

- šušuuwištinuʔi. (Put your shoes on.)

- _____

Activity #2: Activities and Weather

What other activities do you like to do once you get outside?

We can do some activities in all kinds of weather, and some activities are best when it's hot or cold outside.

Fill out the chart below in nuučaañuł. Write 5 examples of activities for each type of weather. You can also draw small pictures of the activity.

You can use the same activity twice if you like to do it when the weather is hot or cold outside.

 ħupaama hitaas.  (It's hot out.)	 m'alaama hitaas.  (It's cold out.)

Activity #3: My Walking Journal

It's time to go yaacpanač!

On a day with comfortable weather, go walking for at least 30 minutes. You can go anywhere you like, whether you're walking around town or out on the land.

While you're outside, take note of all the things you see, smell, hear, feel, and taste.

When you finish your walk, fill the space below with nuučaañuł vocabulary to describe your experience. You can list the words in point form or write them out in full sentences.

You can visit Ucluelet dialect domain sets (<https://bit.ly/3qhKrFK>), FirstVoices (<https://bit.ly/35L7UWj>), or you can ask a fluent language speaker from your community to help you find the right nuučaañuł words to describe your walk.
